Plush for the Planet

Plush for the planet items are made of 100% recycled fabrics that is of even higher quality than that of our signature collection made of virgin polyester

We had a vision

where one day we would be able to offer a green product line that holds up to sustainability standards while also providing an opportunity to educate children on the importance of environmental and animal conservation.

A quest that started in 2018, took more than two years of research and development, has led us to #PlushforthePlanet. Plush for the Planet is our Sustainable Collection of plush animals made from 100% recycled fabrics. While holding true to our quality standards, we are proud to offer the world's first sustainable build your own plush line.

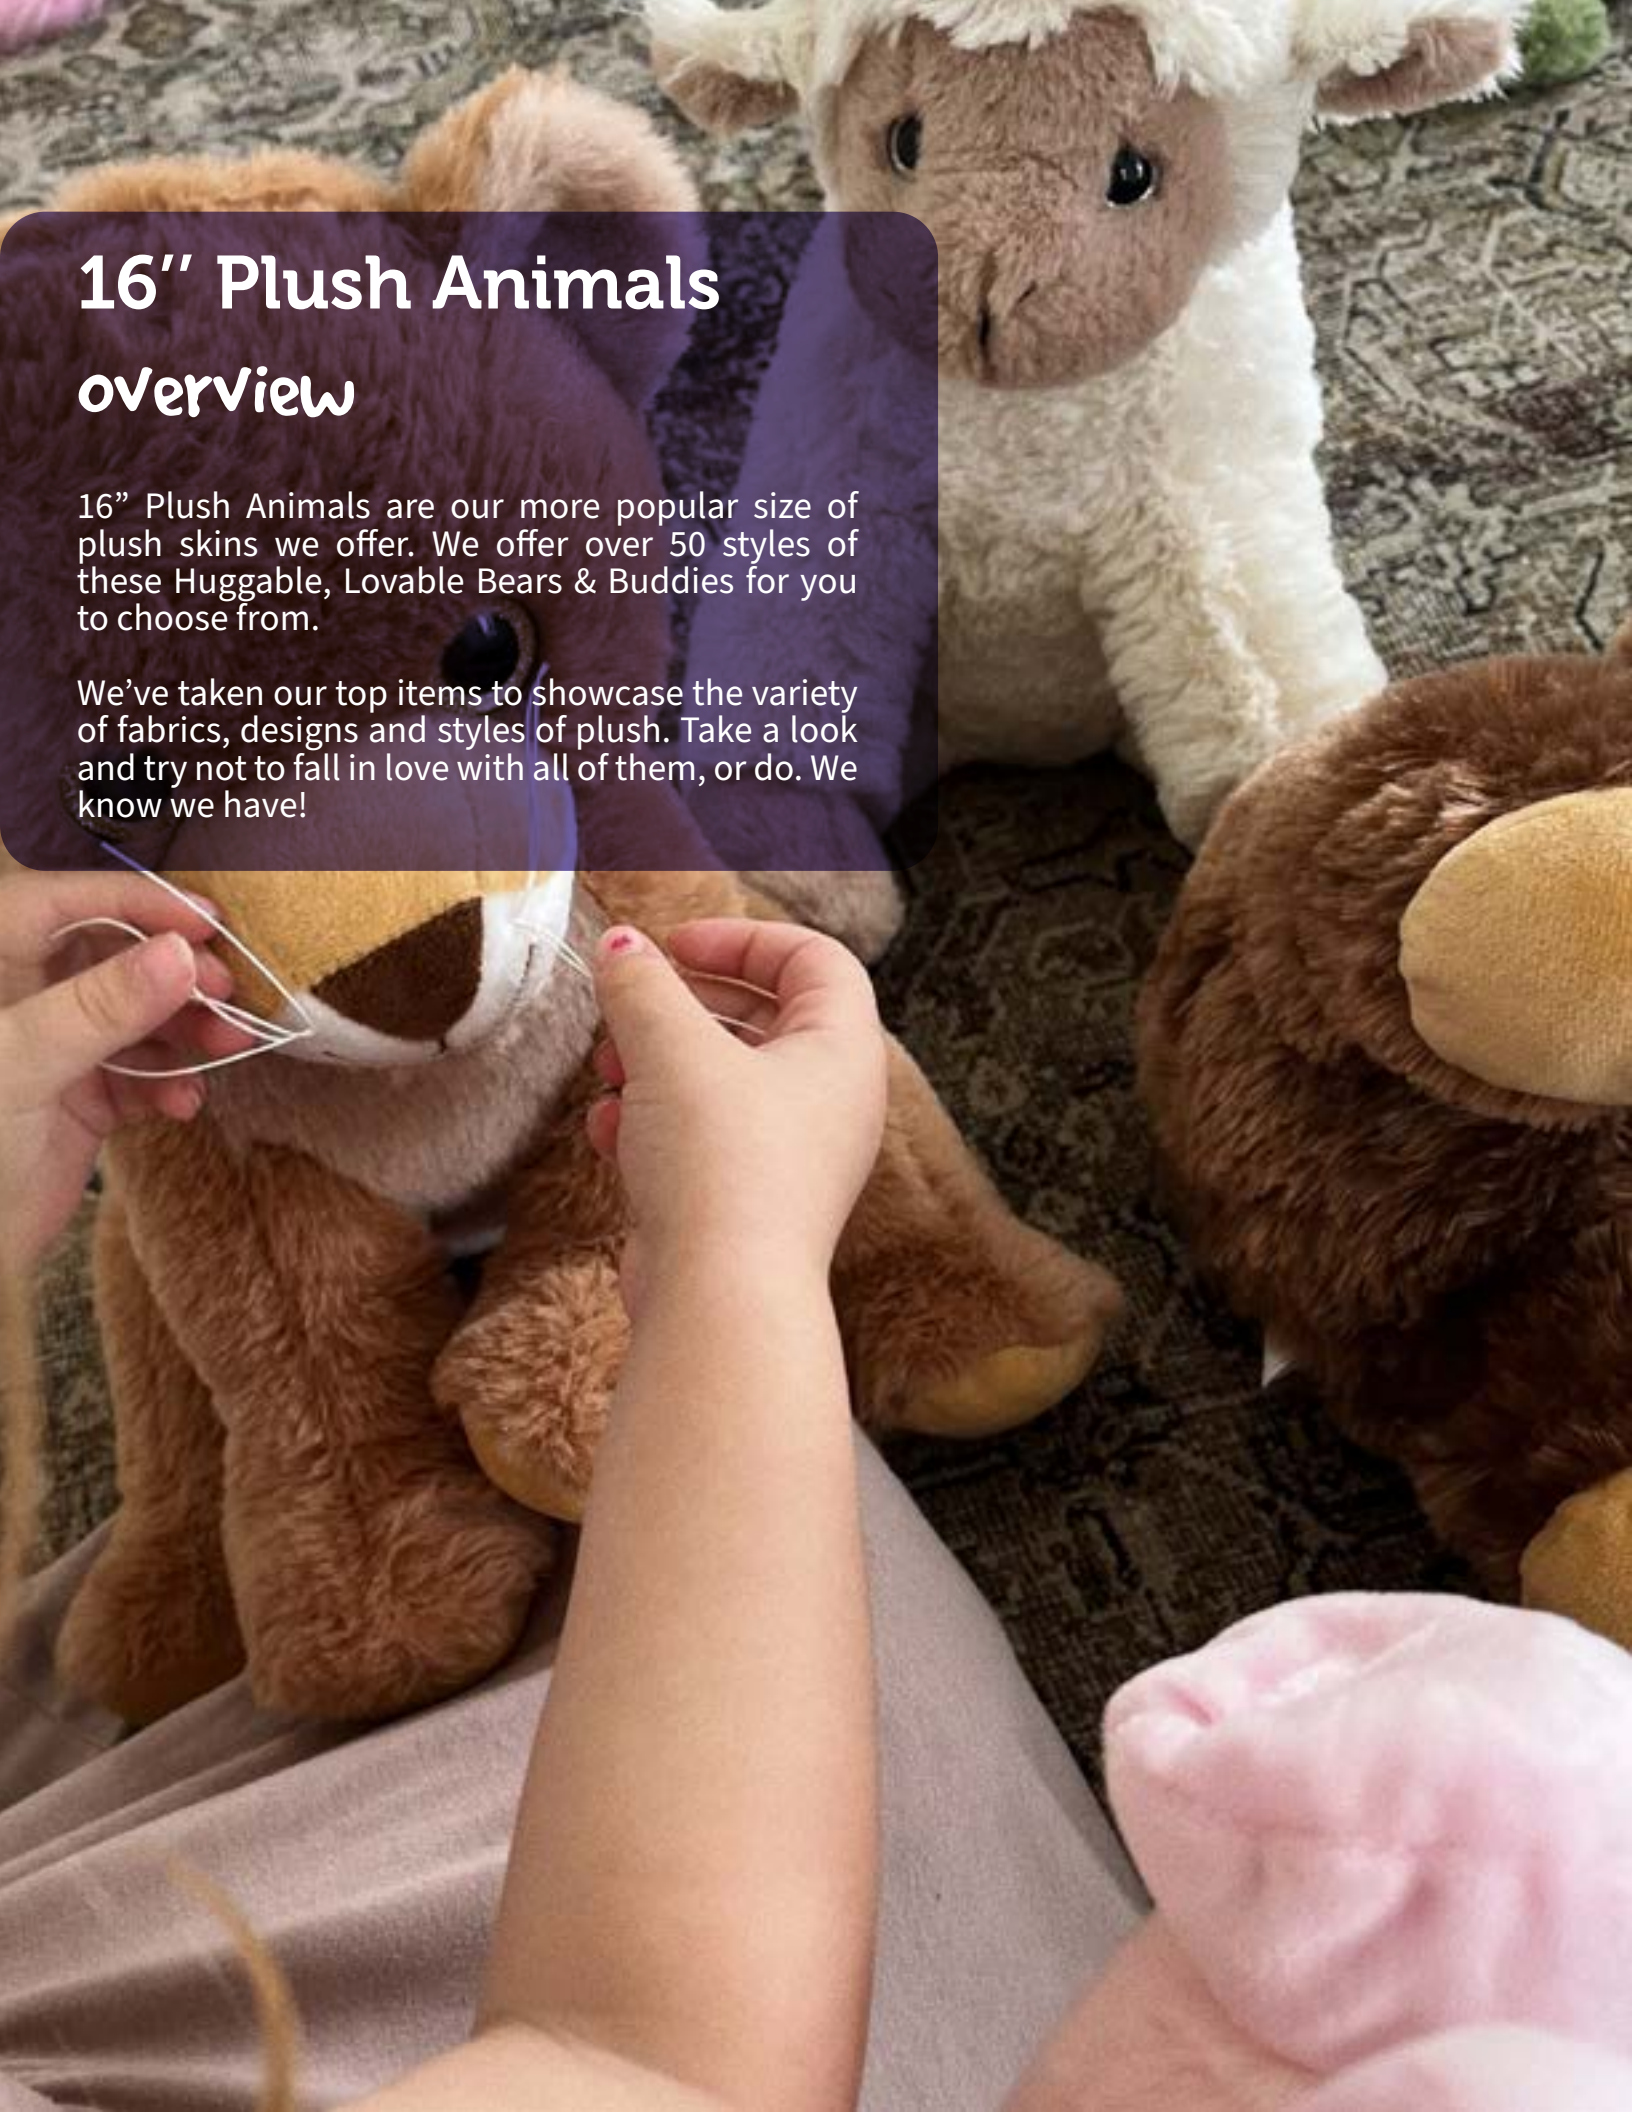

Our inaugural line driving focus is to promote awareness of our oceans and the micro plastics that litter them. Our goal is to let Plush for the Planet be a conversation starter with the next generation while also providing an interactive build your own plush experience to create a memorable lasting impression.
